

Home Page

Work on this site began on 12 January 2005. Several pages have been uploaded so far. The rest will hopefully follow in due course. On the Site Navigation page: Black links work, Grey links do not.

Please Note

This website is quite definitely not one that is all-singing, all-dancing! Snazzy graphics to entertain are not included as these would slow down the rate at which pages download.

Hopefully, its interest value will more than compensate for what it lacks in pretty pictures.

Please bear in mind that this site is not authoritative except where the text is directly in accordance with Scripture. It has been composed by an ordinary man whose own notions carry no more weight than those which you hold.

The reason why this website was constructed is that the author is convinced that God uses all sorts of different ways in which to speak to those He calls to repentance, faith and baptism.

If you are seeking after the truth about God with an open mind, you are encouraged to think deeply, test everything that you come across, and ask all the questions you like.

Perhaps there is something on this website that will spark off, by the power of the Holy Spirit, a living relationship between you and your Heavenly Father, and His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Remember, God has created you for one of two purposes which are explained on this site. Make sure that it is the happier one of the two!

Systematic Tour

If you wish to work through this site systematically, you are invited to click the link below to start you off, and then use the Next arrows at the bottom of each page. Use the Back arrows where you wish to return to a page to recap or for further study.

Site Assumptions

Alternatively, you may go to the Site Navigation page (see the bottom of this page) and click any of the Black links that catch your fancy. The Grey links are not yet operational.

If you click a link in the body of the text on a page, use your browser's 'Back' facility if you wish to return to the page you were on.

Printing Pages

If you find your printer is not printing pages on this site properly and there is a live Download link in the centre at the foot of the page, clicking it will download the page in .pdf format for the Adobe Acrobat reader which will print it properly.

Should you wish to do this and the Adobe Acrobat reader is not on your computer, you may download it for free from the following site:

www.adobe.com

(The download is quite large.)

Clicking the image above will download for you a “Please Ask Why” Cover Page as a printer friendly .pdf

Clicking on the “Please Ask Why” Logo (shown above) from anywhere on the site will take you to the Site Navigation Page
